

DEMOCRATS WIN VICTORY ON SCHOOL BOARD

De Facto Officers Legally Organized Last Night with Full Quota Present.

The Board of Education was legally organized last night, with a full quota of officers and committees under the rules. The de facto officers were legalized. William H. Webster is president; Owen Burns is vice president, and Dr. Edward F. McGovern, secretary.

The action which produced this result was taken by agreement. The Republicans caucused at 7:30 in the Board of Education rooms. Dr. E. F. Jones presently proposed, in behalf of the caucus, a suspension of the rules, and the creation of new committees, to meet the demands of the Democratic side for an equality of responsibility duty and power.

The old rule called for four committees of three each. The rule which replaced it works out to four committees of two each, one member to be a Republican, the other a Democrat, which is the precise arrangement that the Democratic side demanded when the division of the two sides was precipitated.

All of the acts of the board performed by the de facto officers and committees were validated by unanimous vote.

To meet the wishes of the Board of Apportionment and Taxation, that the records and accounts of the board should be under a single head, a rule was adopted requiring teachers' contracts, and all papers and documents whatever to be in the custody of the clerical officer, who is John Wynkoop, assistant secretary.

These contracts had hitherto been in the custody of the superintendent of schools, Mr. Slawson.

The clerical officer will keep all books and records, and furnish all figures which may be necessary and no other figures are to be offered as the figures of the board.

1,500 ATTEND ST. PATRICK'S PARISH PARTY

About 1,500 people attended the minstrel show and dance given last evening in Colonial hall by the young people of St. Patrick's parish for the benefit of the school fund. Mrs. M. J. Rinck was chairman of the committee in charge and is in a large measure responsible for its great success. She was assisted in her work by Mrs. Christopher O'Brien and Miss Kay Morrissey.

Thomas and Edward Nearly directed the minstrel in which, Joe and Elmer Moore, Arthur Whitstanley, Vince Benham, Genevieve Schorndorf, and Edna Nichols were end men. Joe Moore pleasingly rendered "Wabash Blues" after which brother Elmer sang "Singing the Blues 'Till My Daddy Comes Home." Mr. Benham rendered "Dapper Dan" and Mr. Whitstanley "I've Got the Blues" and "Mandy and Me." Little Miss Schorndorf's song and dance "Ma" was one of the big features of the show while Miss Nichols' jazz dance brought volumes of applause. Madelyn Farley in bawdy costume sang "When Francis Dances With Me." The Blessed Sacrament quartet was well received.

Other soloists were Adele Cuneo, Loretta Lynch, Alice Petrofsky, Martin Rinck, Joseph Buckley, Kay Morrissey, Alena Owens, Julia Cook, Vera Flannery and Tess O'Brien.

H. J. DUNLAP

Formerly Conducted Jewelry Store Here — Died Suddenly In Naugatuck.

Word was received here last night of the death of H. J. Dunlap, who formerly resided in this city. Mr. Dunlap conducted a jewelry store where the Fairchild store is now located, but since of Naugatuck where he conducted a jewelry store.

Last night a customer entered his store but found no one there so he immediately went to the Chief of Police and explained that although the door was open Mr. Dunlap was not about. Chief of Police Malone immediately investigated and found Mr. Dunlap lying on the floor in the rear of the store with a deep gash over the left eye. It was at first thought that it was a case of foul play but after an examination by Medical Examiner Dr. Johnson he pronounced death due to acute indigestion. He also explained that the deceased was probably suddenly attacked and fell, and struck his head on a large marble block that was directly in his path. It is thought that this was the cause of the deep cut.

Quinsy, Cause Of Jail Quarantine

Quinsy, not small pox as rumored, is responsible for a partial quarantine at the County jail, William Vanderbilt, 1855 Barnum avenue, being especially unfortunate. Not that he is so ill, but because non-support charges against him have been withdrawn, and now he has to stay in jail until he recovers.

Another held by the quarantine is Arthur E. Church, 450 Davidson street, charged with embezzlement. Required bonds of $5,000 have been raised, for his release pending the trial, but he too is temporarily out of luck. Several others are slightly afflicted.

BOYS OWE LIVES TO DARING AUTOIST

Two boys, Kenneth Tierney, age 10, and John Anderson, age seven, both of 2806 Fairfield avenue, owe their lives to an unknown autoist who plunged into the Brewster street pond and rescued the boys who had plunged through the thin coating of ice on the pond. Six other men aided in the rescue.

The two boys were having a merry time sliding on the ice when it gave way. They both had presence of mind to grab the edges of the ice remaining in place. Their cries reached the ears of the man who rushed to their rescue carrying an automobile robe. He tossed the robe to the boys and was drawing them to safety when the ice beneath him gave way. He managed to get a solid footing again and was drawing the boys to safety when six other men came to the rescue and by a human chain dragged the boys from the water and the youngsters were hurried home and put to bed. They went to school today.
